This extensive volume presents New Mexico history from its prehistoric beginnings to the present in essays and articles by fifty prominent historians and scholars. 7 x 10 in. 480 pages 56 black-and-white photographs. Marta Weigle is former University Regents Professor in the Department of Anthropology at the University of New Mexico. In 2005 she received the inaugural State Historian's Award for Excellence in New Mexico Heritage Scholarship from the New Mexico Historic Preservation Division. Among her numerous New Mexico books are Alluring New Mexico: Engineered Enchantment, 1821-2001 and Spanish New Mexico: The Spanish Colonial Arts Society Collection (both Museum of New Mexico Press) and the co-authored The Lore of New Mexico (University of New Mexico Press). Frances Levine is director of the New Mexico History Museum/Palace of the Governors. Louise Stiver is the former senior curator of the New Mexico History Museum/Palace of the Governors. "Though no book can ever tell the entire story of any state or satisfy every student, scholar, or history buff, Telling New Mexico: A New History comes close. The work includes narratives of places, people, and events, as well as personal reflections. The book achieves a standard of excellence in the preservation and interpretation of state and local history that makes the past more meaningful to all people. The scholarship represented in this work is hard to fault. Native contributors offer a perspective to New Mexico history that is often missing in other collections. I highly recommend Telling New Mexico: A New History for both the casual reader and the scholar of New Mexico history and culture."-- New Mexico Historical Review "Éan anthology of historical items which cover the entire spectrum of New Mexico history from the landscape itself through...
