

With Lord Methuen in South Africa, February 1900 to June 1901; Being Some Notes on the War with Extracts from Letters and Diaries

By Hugh Selwyn Gaskell

Theclassics.us, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 246 x 189 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1906 edition. Excerpt: . Chapter XIV Sunday passed uneventfully, and on Monday morning at 4.15 we were off after de Wet, little knowing the dance he was going to lead us. For the next seven days we were to have continual fighting, and the longest marches and roughest fare we had ever had, or were going to have, while I was with Lord Methuen's column. Every man and horse on both sides was to be strained to the utmost, for it was Methuen's great dash after the celebrated leader, and one of the most determined and skilful drives of the war, unhonoured and unsung though it has been. Ninety odd miles were covered by the mounted men and guns in three days. Night and day the Boers fled across the veldt, leaving waggons, stores, ammunition, and prisoners behind them, and night and day the small...

READ ONLINE
[5.59 MB]

Reviews

I just started out reading this ebook. It is rally exciting throgh reading through time. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Leonie Collins

I just started off reading this article publication. It is definitely simplistic but surprises in the 50 percent of your ebook. You are going to like how the author create this publication.

-- Clint Labadie